BURGLAR ARRESTED OVERNIGHT

Trumbull Police arrested a local man as he fled the scene of two separate burglaries in the Trumbull Center business district during the early morning hours on Tuesday, July 17, 2018.

The man, Maxwell Haslam, age 26, of Church Hill Road, Trumbull, was apprehended at about 1:30 a.m. this morning as he was walking away from the scene of a burglary at the Fatty Patty restaurant, located at 2 Daniels Farm Road.

Officers who were responding to an activated alarm from the business spotted Haslam in a nearby alley carrying two shopping bags. The bags contained burglary tools and various items of clothing. When questioned, officers were able to connect Haslam to the burglary that had just occurred and he implicated himself in another burglary that had occurred at the same business in May 2018. While checking the area, officers found evidence of an additional burglary committed by Haslam at an adjacent business, the Firgesleski Chiropractic Center, which is also located on Daniels Farm Road.

Haslam was charged with two counts of Burglary 3rd Degree, Possession of Burglary Tools, two counts of Criminal Mischief and Larceny 6th. He was held on $15,000 bond and given a court date of Thursday July 26th.

Additional charges are expected as detectives continue the Investigation.
